Revised and Expanded Translations for the English Language Pack

1 | Reference: 4615 | nlk3

The translations in the English language pack have been thoroughly reviewed, improved, and expanded. Existing texts were corrected and polished linguistically, and missing translations were added. As a result, the English user interface is now more consistent, clearer, and fully localized.

Update of Design and Branding to Metalogie GmbH

2 | Reference: 5076 | nlk3

Since April 2025, pdv-software GmbH has been operating under the name Metalogie GmbH. Accordingly, the previous design elements have been updated to reflect the new corporate design. This includes adjustments to the user interface, the logos used, the color palette, and the overall visual identity.

French language pack

3 | Reference: 7716 | nlk3

With the new French language pack, comprehensive support is available for using the application in French. This includes:

- The entire user interface can be switched to French. All fixed elements such as menus, buttons, and labels will then appear in French.
- Important master data is automatically provided in French during installation. This ensures that key terms and references are immediately available in the correct language.
- All standard report templates are fully translated. Both static texts and, where available, dynamic content based on translated master data are displayed in French.
- The entire product documentation, including the installation guide, is available in French.

The setup automatically includes all French components. After installation, the user interface, reports, master data, and documentation are immediately ready for use in French without any additional configuration.

Reports and Templates in French

4 | Reference: 8593 | nlk3

The standard reports are now fully available in French. All report templates use French designations, allowing users to select the desired template directly in the target language. Within the reports, both the static elements—such as headings and predefined texts—and the dynamic content are displayed in French, provided corresponding translations are stored in the master data. As a result, automatically inserted information such as references or labels also appears in French. The new report templates are delivered with the setup, enabling the French report output to be used immediately without any additional steps.

New download portal for nlk3

5 | Reference: 9406 | nlk3

You can now register on the download portal to download the software. Installation files for nlk3 and the required Testo driver are available for each version. In addition, instructions for installing and licensing the software are provided in German, French, and English.

The access information required for the download will be provided to you by our team. The password previously required for the software provided as an archive file is no longer needed.

New publisher certificate for greater trust

6 | Reference: 9816 | Portal

Our software products are now signed with an enhanced publisher certificate and are therefore classified as trustworthy. Downloads will no longer be blocked, and no security warnings will appear when installing or launching the software.
